

Smud solar battery rebate

Does SMUD offer a battery incentive program?

SMUD itself offers a battery incentive program called "My Energy Optimizer." It offers three levels of incentives depending on the type of battery you have and how much control you give SMUD to use the battery during peak events when demand for power is exceptionally high.

Who is eligible for SMUD's solar and storage rate (SSR) program?

To be eligible for this program, you must have a battery storage unit installed at your home and participate in SMUD's Solar and Storage Rate (SSR). Individual rental units are ineligible at this time until SMUD determines a way for owners and their tenants to mutually benefit from the program.

Does SMUD have a reserve if a battery system goes out?

SMUD will always leave customers with a 20% reserve at the end of an event in case of an outage overnight. The following battery systems are eligible for incentives: See the My Energy Optimizer Partner+Terms and Conditions for more program details. Questions? Email SaveEnergy@smud.org.

How much does SMUD cost without solar?

SMUD customers without solar choose between two rate plans: Fixed Rate or Time of Day. Both plans start with the same $23.05 monthly fixed charge, then add usage charges for every kilowatt-hour (kWh) of electricity a customer draws from the grid.

How does SMUD pay for solar panels?

If your solar panels make electricity you don't need right away, it gets sent to your neighbors by way of the wires outside your house. Under SMUD's Solar and Storage Rate, that electricity is purchased by the utility for $0.074/kWh, no matter what time it is produced.

Does SMUD charge an interconnection fee?

If you're adding a new solar system with battery storage or a battery storage system only, there's a one-time interconnection fee to connect to SMUD's grid to recover the cost of providing interconnection service. Your solar installer should already be aware of this fee.
